Ethics Case Study: It Was Just A Careless Mistake

For me, it is important to be honest all the time especially in the business industry. Because one decision can have a big impact to the business. Why should lie if you know the consequences. In the video, I learned that it will be better to just tell the mistake, than lying. At least you showed your honesty. If I were David, I will persuade Johnny to tell the truth even though it will impact the bonuses of the staff so that it could prevent trouble or problems in the future. And as an accounting student, the financial statement should be presented in faithful representation meaning it should be fair and be in true form.
