

Several websites provide ready-made speeches that public speakers are welcome to use as their own. Aside from the dishonesty involved, why would using such speeches be a mistake?

Using ready-made speeches can be a mistake because it can lead to Plagiarism. Plagiarism is an unethical act where someone using or copying another's work without giving credits to the owner. If the writer of the speech found out that you use its speech and claim it as your own she/he can file a legal action. Using ready-made speeches it can loss the credibility of a speaker. It can destroyed your personality and professional reputation as a speaker. A speaker will experience difficulty while delivering its speech because she/he use others speech and she/he do not have any knowledge about the ready-made speech. Using ready-made speeches, the speaker is not able to express its feelings towards the topic. Also, the information that you will deliver to your audience is like worthless because you're not the one who right and think that speech. You can use ready-made speeches as a guide in creating your own ideas. You can use it to come up into what topic did you want to share to your audience. To avoid plagiarism give proper citations or credits to the person who make that speech.
