

Assume that you are going to speak before an audience composed of professionals on a perennial and relevant topic, for instance, "Smoking." Find out as much about your audience by answering the following questions:

1. Who is likely to talk?
2. What is their background (education, profession, age, range, gender etc?)
3. Why do you think they will come
4. How will you convince them to stop their smoking habit?