

Summarized: Education by Ellen G. White

Everyone desire to know more, education is great importance to every class and creed. But what we considered as education is not at the highest standard as God's own method of education. The work of redemption is the object of education and love the basis of creation.

True education trains us to be thinkers and not reflectors of others taught. The education that God desire for us cannot be completed in this world it will continue in the time to come. It begins in Eden, the model school and is to be taught to throughout our life time both in this world and the next. The knowledge of good was given to our forefather in the garden was the beginning lesson God desire to share is first being. For their own good, the evil part was withheld from them because of the pain and suffering they would endure. Satan desire that the couple should perish tempted them to sinning.

The majesty Father made a way for his people long before the couple gave into the temptation. The new lesson of suffering was to become a part of their daily life but in no means limit them of the Education that is be theirs. The parents are shown that their role in the life of their children is import. A wise parent will impact the child positively because of the counter fit of character that exists. The Teacher reveals in his own character the principle that is to be embarked upon the recipient-the student. The better is the student adaptable to receive the lesson. Never is an education which recognizes God as the source of wisdom to be misunderstood. A strong desire for deeper understanding and should be earnestly sort. The Book Education give deeper insight to the overlooked meaning of what is true education.
